

Karen Miller

Children's Writer & Reading Consultant

Writing for and about children is something Karen Miller is truly passionate about. Karen is published children's & adult writer and has a Master's in Reading from the National Louis University.

Turning everyday calamities and mishaps into humor inspired Karen Miller to write stories for Chicago Tribune and special interest magazines. Other publications include sales to Ranger Rick, Wild Outdoor World, and National Geographic World. A former teacher, her students inspired Karen's first book "Monsters and Water creatures: Creatures of Fact or Fiction (Henry Holt, May 2007).

Currently Karen is a tutor for the Yancey County Literacy Council, a member of the Author's Guild, American Library Association, National Council of Teachers of English, Society of Children's Book Writer and Illustrators and the North Carolina Writer's Network.

School visits can be for Grades K-8. Pre and post lesson plans are available using Monsters and Water Beasts: Fact or Fancy? The objectives for her programs are: critical thinking, writing skills, and vocabulary.

Also available are Teacher in-services for "What's New in Kids' Books" and also presentation of the writing process...from idea to published work "What Makes a Writer?"
